CONGREGATE APARTMENT HOUSING

Multi-unit housing for independent to semi-independent people which includes community social and dining facilities. Individual living units include at minimum, a living room/bedroom, bathroom and kitchenette. These Facilities offer at least one hot meal per day and some housekeeping services. Transportation and personal assistance services may also be available. Fees for such services may be included in the rent or billed separately. Currently, there is no licensing specifically for congregate housing. All units are subsidized by federal HUD, Project based Section 8.

ELDER COTTAGE HOUSING OPPORTUNITIES (ECHO UNITS)

A small, removable modular cottage put on a concrete slab or treated wood foundation in a back or side yard of a home. The unit is specifically designed to meet the needs of older or disabled people. This permits older persons to live independently, but close to people who are concerned about them. The cottages vary in size, from efficiency units to one or two bedrooms, a bathroom, living room, kitchen, and eating area. ECHO units are connected to the utilities of the primary dwelling and can be fashioned to match or complement the main house. The unit is designed to be removed when it is no longer being used. Zoning and environmental protection requirements must be met in order to install this type of temporary housing. Units may be bought, but ECHO programs in some New Jersey counties enable older or disabled persons to rent ECHO units, sometimes at affordable rates.

SUBSIDIZED APARTMENTS FOR THE ELDERLY

Rental units, generally in the form of garden apartments or apartments in high-rise or mid-rise buildings. The units are designed for, and limited to people who are at least 62 years old or are disabled. Construction or rental costs are financed by the state or federal government. Sponsors of this housing include non-profit, limited profit, and for-profit organizations, as well as public housing authorities. There are income limitations for eligibility for this type of housing, and the rents are often subsidized, with the amount of rent based upon the income of the household. There are generally waiting lists for this housing. In some buildings, recreational activities and support services such as meals, housekeeping, or transportation are provided. Fees for services may be included in the rent or charged separately. Some apartment complexes below accept persons of all ages.
